

Better Baklava

One of the world's most loved desserts, Baklava is wonderful layers of crispy, flaky fillo and sweet walnuts. It's also a lot of work to make. Baklava from Athens Foods® takes the effort out of this ethnic dessert by providing pre-baked portions in 36- or 48-piece trays—just thaw and serve. Athens Baklava is created from a traditional Greek recipe with layers of fillo dough, chopped walnuts, sugar, honey and spices and is presented in a traditional triangle shape.

For more information, visit www.athens.com.

Customize Your Cutlery

Hodi International, Inc. just introduced the NapTidi, a patented cutlery sleeve made of paper and pre-loaded with a 16 by 16-inch two-ply facial quality napkin, to the U.S. market. Popular in Europe, the NapTidi sleeve can be custom imprinted with your message or logo using ink that is not only food grade and scentless, but also environmentally friendly. Six times faster than wrapping cutlery in a napkin, the NapTidi is also more hygienic and more appealing to customers.

For more information, visit www.hodi-international.com.

Break it Down

StalkMarket® has added two new product lines made from 100-percent renewable plant materials that are also completely biodegradable and compostable. The Planet Plus® line consists of paper hot cups and cold cups that are lined with a thin biopolymer coating that prevents them from leaking, but allows them to quickly biodegrade once discarded. The Jaya™ line consists of clear cups, lids, drinking straws and cutlery made of advanced biopolymers to provide an environmentally friendly choice versus those made of petroleum-based plastic.

These products look and feel very similar to traditional plastic disposables; however, they can be broken down in a commercial composter in a matter of weeks.

For more information, go to www.stalkmarketproducts.com. 